That the Blockade Will Begin

And Will In Character Be One of War

NOTES SENT TO THE ALLIES CONCERNED.

BASIS FOR THE SETTLEMENT

The Preparations for Arbitration are Now Going On—Germany May Demand Apology.

Washington, Dec. 19.—It was announced at the State Department this morning that answers had been received from Great Britain, Germany and Italy to the proposal of arbitration made by President Castro and forwarded by this government. The answers, while admitting the correctness of the principles of arbitration, are not regarded as satisfactory on account of the conditions laid down.

The answer of Great Britain is the most favorable. Germany admits that arbitration is the proper manner of settlement, but she interposes so many conditions as to make her answer anything but consent to arbitration. Italy says that inasmuch as she is the youngest of the three parties to the alliance she will be willing to abide by any disposition of the matter agreed upon by the other two. It will take much time before arbitration can be entered into.

The character of the objections to immediate arbitration interposed by Great Britain and Germany are not made public further than one of them is that there must be some guarantee that Venezuela will carry out the judgment of the arbitrators. It is believed, however, that one of the conditions laid down by Germany is an apology from President Castro for the arrest of German consular officials and the sacking of the German legation at Caracas. Secretary Hay took the answers of the three powers to the cabinet meeting with him this morning. They were read and a full discussion had thereon.

Efforts will now be made to obtain President Castro's assent to as many of these conditions as possible, while at the same time it will be diplomatically suggested to Great Britain and Germany that they recede from the more onerous stipulations.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Notice was served by England and Germany to all other nations today that the blockade of Venezuela will begin at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and it will be in character one of war. No objection will be raised by the United States provided the blockade is impartially enforced.

HOPE OF ARBITRATION.

Rome, Dec. 19.—Officials of the foreign office today expressed belief that acceptance of arbitration through the American Minister to Venezuela would practically see an end of the acuteness of the South American trouble.

INFORMATION ON THE SUBJECT.

Washington, Dec. 19.—As soon as possible the state department will send to the House the correspondence and information regarding the Venezuelan situation requested in the resolution passed yesterday. This is the result of the conference held several days ago at the White House between Chairman Hitt of the House foreign affairs committee and the President. The latter stated at the time that he had no objection to a public discussion of the matter and in fact thought it might prove valuable.

DISCUSSING

The Manner in Which Readjustment of the Venezuelan Trouble May be Made.

Washington, Dec. 19.—As the state department is expecting a favorable answer to the last proposition of Castro, officials are already discussing the manner in which a readjustment may be made.

If the European powers agree, the paramount power of the United States in South America will thus be declared and acknowledged.

Three or four methods of adjustment are feasible.

First—The Powers may accept Mr. Bowen as sole adjuster, intermediary or arbitrator, as King Oscar was accepted by the United States as arbitrator to the Samoan claims.

Second—Each nation may appoint a representative to act with Mr. Bowen for the auditing of all claims.

Third—The Powers may agree upon a mixed tribunal, Mr. Bowen to represent Venezuela.

Fourth—If the Powers accept Mr. Bowen, a suggestion will undoubtedly be made to remit all the questions except the demanded apologies to the Hague tribunal.

This last method is favored by the United States government, certainly by many of its leading officials.

The United States will not accept the role of guarantor of the Venezuelan debts.

Nothing can be done or formulated, officials here say, until answers have been received from the powers as to the original proposition of arbitration and the last Castro proposition.

The United States has not receded from any of the positions it has taken as to the blockade, arbitration, the keeping of the American fleet in the Caribbean sea, or its rights to be at the ports which Admiral Dewey has selected.

In the arrangement of Admiral Dewey's fleet there will be four battleships at Trinidad, namely the Kearsarge, the Albany, the Massachusetts and the Iowa. The two other battleships, the Illinois and Indiana, will rendezvous at St. Thomas. The minor ships are at other ports. Admiral Dewey will be at San Juan on the 22d inst., where he will be entertained.

The ships of the fleet are kept in touch with each other and could be reassembled within 24 hours, as originally intended.

UNDERSTANDING AT HAND.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The state department, wrapped in the gloom of secrecy, has received a cablegram from Minister Bowen at Caracas, which the Secretary withholds from the public. The general feeling, however, around the department is one of case, and it is quite certain the complication arising out of the demonstration made by Germany and England has or is about reaching a stage of satisfactory adjudication. Despite the denial of Castro contained in press dispatches, it is evident the department of state has advice which lead to the irresistible conclusion that a common understanding either has or is about to be reached.

It is asserted that the cablegram from Minister Bowen was the transmission of a letter signed by Castro, and the Minister of Exterior appointing Mr. Bowen with full power to act for Venezuela in all matters pending between that country and the allies.

It is understood that Castro, through Bowen, has asked the foreign Powers if they will accept Bowen as arbitrator, and that notes of inquiry have been forwarded to the United States Ambassadors.

Just how the matter may shape itself is, of course, largely conjecture, but the chances are that Bowen will be selected, with the consent of the United States, to act as an arbiter between the demands of the allied Powers and the Venezuelan Government.

If Germany insists on an apology outside of its demand for money damages this feature of the case will be something with which the United States will have nothing to do. It is not denied that Germany, under the international code which governs the diplomacy of nations, can demand of Venezuela reparation in the shape of a public apology for alleged insults offered.

The difference between the case of Germany and that of the other allies is that the German Legation at Caracas was attacked, its windows broken, the Minister's sick wife terrorized and the German national honor otherwise touched in a manner that cannot be healed by money.

BOSTON BID ACCEPTED.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Secretary Root announced this morning that he had decided to accept the bid of the Boston Steamship company of Seattle on all government military business going from Seattle and Tacoma to the Philippines. He will now ask San Francisco to accept the bid on business going from that city.

From Well Where Wife's Body

Was Discovered, Says the Prisoner.

WHEELER NOW LOCKED UP IN LANCASTER JAIL.

HE WAS ON THE WOMAN'S TRAIL

When He Was Placed Under Arrest. That is the Claim Made by the Prisoner.

Lancaster, O., Dec. 19.—Charles Wheeler, husband of the woman whose dead body was found in a well on his farm, near Lithopolis, as wired the Advocate Wednesday, is lodged in the county jail here. The body of the woman had been in the water for over two weeks, and was in an advanced stage of decomposition. Dr. Brown of Carroll and Dr. Courtwright, of Lithopolis, conducting the autopsy. The exact result of the autopsy has been kept secret, but it is true that the woman's skull was crushed in on the right side just above the ear, as if she had been struck with a heavy weapon, perhaps with the hatchet, covered with blood, which is now in the hands of the County Prosecutor. The body was placed in the care of an undertaker in Lithopolis, and Mr. McClenaghan went to Zanesville to see a sister of the dead woman, Mrs. Albert Waters, residing on Underwood street, in that city. The remains will be turned over to her if she claims them; if not, they will be buried in Lithopolis. The coroner's inquest will be held here today. When seen at jail by a reporter Wheeler said:

"It won't do me any good to talk in the newspapers." But when he got started he proved to be quite communicative and talked without reserve for a quarter of an hour. Wheeler is 56 years old. He is rather short in stature, but is powerfully built, and his thick hair and mustache are slightly sprinkled with gray. He speaks with a decided German accent. He says he was born in Philadelphia of German parentage and that when an infant he was taken back to Germany and remained in that country until he was 20 years old. He moved to Columbus, O., in 1871, and lived there until 2 years ago, when he moved on the farm near Lithopolis. He says he never had any children. His first wife, now deceased, was a widow when he married her and had several children, but Wheeler knows nothing of their whereabouts. When his first wife died he married again, but he only lived with his second wife one week. He says he was convinced of her infidelity and allowed her to get a divorce. He was married to his third wife about two years ago.

Wheeler says that he and his wife quarreled at different times over money matters. He says that his wife disappeared about two weeks ago Sunday, but for several days he thought nothing of it, as she had been in the habit of going away and staying for a week or ten days at a time, that she has during these trips visited Toledo and Columbus, that when he heard nothing from her he made every effort to find her, and consulted an expoliceman in Columbus on the subject. He says that this man said that he was on the track of the missing woman, and advised him to go home and stay there until he heard from him. He went to Columbus on Monday the first of this month, and again on the Monday following. He declares that the story of his trying to cash certificates of deposit belonging to his wife is untrue. He denies that he told any one that his wife had deserted him, leaving him her property. He says that on the second trip to Columbus this month he met a clerk of the Columbus Savings Bank in a saloon and spoke to him, but said nothing in reference to cashing his wife's certificates, that these papers and her bank book were found by him in a bureau drawer several days after his wife's disappearance.

When asked if the well in which the body had been found had been an unused one Wheeler exclaimed: "Gut I have been drinking water from that well every day up to yesterday." Then he clapped his hand over his mouth and started hurriedly into one of the cells. He reappeared immediately, so his alleged attack of nausea was not a severe one. He said that the suit filed by him in the Common Pleas Court on December 3 was done on the advice of Attorney Lane of Canal Winchester. He says that he is innocent of his wife's murder, but can give no reason for her taking her own life and cannot explain how the woman's skull happened to be so badly crushed.

Wheeler is fairly well educated and talks well. He says he has never had any hired help since he moved on the farm and that when his wife was away he lived alone in the house. The woman's name before her marriage to Wheeler was Ella Freay.

Wheeler has retained Attorney Lane of Canal Winchester, and George E. Martin of this city, to defend him.

AN APPEAL TO A HIGHER COURT

The Case Went to the Jury at Noon Friday—The Charge Was Levy- ing Blackmail.

Columbus, O., Dec. 19.—Attorney Thomas E. Steele and Mrs. Anna Miller who have been on trial for levying blackmail, were found guilty by a United States court jury this afternoon.

At the first trial of this celebrated case last week, the jury disagreed after seven hours deliberation, but today the jury in the second trial of the case made short work of it.

The case was given to the jury at noon today. Judge Thompson has not pronounced sentence as an appeal to a higher court has been made.

Conviction in this case carries with it fine and imprisonment in the penitentiary, either or both.

Steele is one of the best known lawyers in Columbus. He has a wide acquaintance and a number of clients in Newark and Licking county. Mrs. Miller is also known in Newark, as she has a brother there. Her former name was Timms.

The jury reported Steele and Mrs. Miller guilty at 1:06 this afternoon, having been out just a little more than an hour.

The maximum penalty is two years in the penitentiary and $10,000 fine. Two other indictments are pending against Lawyer Steele. Ivor Hughes, another prominent lawyer of the Franklin county bar, who was indicted with Steele, will have his trial next.

Steele and Mrs. Miller were found guilty of conspiracy to use the mails to extort money from prominent Columbus men charged with intimacy with Mrs. Miller. Steele is a grandson of Thomas Ewing. Mrs. Miller is the wife of Joseph Miller, a Columbus tailor. Ivor Hughes is past grand master of the Odd Fellows.

Columbus, O., Dec. 19.—For the first time since the blackmailing cases in the United States Court opened a word was said on behalf of Mrs. Anna T. Miller, who is jointly charged with conspiracy with Steele. Up to this time her attorneys have taken only an apparently perfunctory interest in the proceedings, but yesterday afternoon W. E. Donaldson, one of her counsel, spoke for her. He recited the story of her domestic life. He was followed by Miss Sloan, for Steele. His argument was finished this morning when District Attorney Bundy closed for the prosecution.

The case would have gone to the jury last evening but for the illness of Gideon Clarke, one of the jurors, from Madison county.

Since a Jury in England Had to Deal With a Treason Charge—Fought With Boers.

London, Dec. 19.—The lord chief justice this morning charged the grand jury of 23 in the law courts which is to try Colonel Lynch, the member-elect of parliament, who is charged with high treason for having fought with the Boers in South Africa. The lord chief justice said the present jury had been summoned for a most unusual object. It had been 62 years, he said, since a grand jury in England had to deal with a charge of high treason. The grand jury returned a true bill against Lynch and his trial was fixed for January 20.

CAT DEAD

YET IT NOW LIVES SAYS THE EX- PERIMENTER.

Hopes to Reanimate the Dead Are En- tertained by Dr. Florine, of Chicago.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—To raise men from the dead is the goal toward which a Chicago physician is striving. He has already practically reanimated a Maltese cat. What the next step may be he himself hesitates to predict. Puss frisks about in an experimental laboratory at Western Springs unconscious of the fact that she has experienced the mystery that will some day be the lot of all—death.

Dr. Hamilton Forline, the experimenter, asserts that the cat was technically dead. Strangled until respiration ceased and the heart stopped, the little creature was subjected to a treatment by which the vital fluid of the brain and spinal column was withdrawn and replaced by a nutritive and life-giving lymph. Before the lapse of many moments the cat was revived.

From small animals the field of operation has been changed to human subjects. The same experiments, in slightly modified form, have been applied to men whose hold on life was so frail as to justify recourse to the revolutionary practice.

Victims of shock far beyond their power of endurance to meet, subjects of an anaesthesia from which there was little hope of awakening, and similar cases of suspension of the vital forces have been subjected to the usual treatment, with the result that the crisis has been successfully passed.

The doctor has made public the principles involved in these experiments and treatments, which consists of a nutritive base, derived from the cells of the nervous and lymphatic systems of animals, which is combined by a difficult process with a powerful revivifying chemical substance. The restorative effect of the chemical is maintained by the nutritive base, and this force is supplied as well as excited.

CHAS. P. GRIFFIN

Toledo Statesman Died Suddenly While Sitting in Chair Chatting With the Family.

Toledo, Dec. 19.—Chas. P. Griffin died yesterday afternoon of angina pectoris. The funeral will be held on Sunday.

Mr. Griffin was seated in an armchair chatting pleasantly with the members of the family and encouraging them that he would be all right, to his wife.

again in a few days when the Angel of Death descended.

Mr. Griffin was born September 3, 1812, in Henrietta, Ohio. He was the son of a farmer, and was educated in Oberlin, O. He taught school in Iowa, in 1839. He enlisted in Company C, Seventh O. V. I., in 1861, but failing health prevented long service in the army. In 1861 he became one of the proprietors of the Oberlin Business College and in 1866 established one in Hillsboro, Mich. He removed to Toledo in 1868 and engaged in the real estate and insurance business. He was a trustee of Hillsdale College (Michigan) and one of the halfs there bears his name. He was elected to the General Assembly in 1887 by the Republicans of Lucas and served five terms. His temperament was combative, and he played a conspicuous part in recent legislation, notably the municipal code.

BRAVE

Officer Slowed Down at the Creek, but the Boy Swam Across and Escaped.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 19.—An unknown boy, almost 18 years old, persisted in stealing coal from the Bet Railway yards in West Indianapolis, and Patrolmen Streit and Sangston attempted to round him up. The boy was loading a cart when the patrolmen made the rush, but outwitted them by jumping over the car and "hiking" his straight for the country, the chase continuing for three miles through fields and over fences.

The police were encouraged by the fact that Eagle Creek lay straight before them. The boy reached the banks possibly 100 yards ahead and the wined officers thinking they had him, slowed down to a walk.

Without hesitation the boy threw off his shoes, pants and coat and plunged headlong through the thin ice covering the surface, disappearing entirely from view. Near midchannel his head bobbed up again, and then he continued to break the ice until he reached the other shore, when he took to his heels and rapidly disappeared.

CARNEGIE

Denies That He Gave His Daughter New Mansion and States the Reason.

New York, December 19.—The Evening Post prints the following: "In our real estate columns yesterday, in reference to the sale by Mr. Carnegie to Mr. Burden of certain lots in the 'Highlands' of Fifth avenue, we spoke of Mr. Carnegie's own house, which is to be a Christmas gift to his little daughter. This item had been printed before and we took it to be an undisputed fact.

"We now learn that it has no foundation whatever, and that nothing could be less in harmony with the ideas of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie that their daughter should now, or ever, be burdened with great wealth. Least of all is she to be taught in her youth that she has 'great expectations' or any expectation at all beyond a moderate competence. Neither of her parents deem great wealth a desirable possession for the morning of life, or for any part of life, except as it may be employed for the advancement of the human race."

BUT IT TOOK HIM THIRTY YEARS TO DO IT.

Owen McCarton Made an Odd Wager in the Grant-Greeley Campaign Of 1872.

New York, Dec. 19.—Owen McCarton, a rich recluse of Oceanic, N. J., died yesterday 70 years of age. For thirty years he has not crossed the threshold of his dwelling between sunrise and sunset because of an election bet. During the presidential campaign of 1872 between Grant and Greeley, McCarton was one of the latter's most enthusiastic supporters. He made a bet with a friend that if Grant was elected he would not leave his home except during the night as long as he lived. McCarton lived up to his wager.

Yet He Had Thousands of Dollars

POVERTY PERSONIFIED BUT HE HAD A FORTUNE.

THE QUEER CASE OF ELI HYMAN.

The Man Had Stock in Financial Insti- tutions But He was a Beggar Just the Same.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 19.—"My vest, my vest!" Crying these words as he lay in his cot in the Toronto General Hospital, Eli Hyman raised himself as if he would reach for his clothes, but death came, and in its coming was revealed one of the stories from life which prove that truth is stranger than fiction.

Homeless and friendless Hyman entered the hospital. He said that he had borrowed a car ticket to reach the friendly shelter. Wretchedness was written in his face, poverty in his clothes and filth all over his person. The case was diagnosed as pneumonia.

After his death a nurse who had intended burning a handkerchief Hyman had left, opened it and found $31,000 inside the roll in bonds. Further search in his ragged clothes revealed $50,000 sewed inside his vest.

Hyman was 70 years of age and a native of Russia. He had lived in Toronto for 42 years and for a quarter of a century had subsisted by begging. He slept wherever there was a friendly roof, in alleys, outhouses and sheds. In the morning he assumed the role of a rag, bone and bottle collector and begged from house to house. In the evenings he sold newspapers.

Hyman held stock in half of the best financial institutions of the city. Whenever he bought securities he left instructions that dividends were not to be mailed to him, but that he would call for them. When he called he insisted on having the 2 cent stamp the company would have spent in mailing the dividend.

WITH A WIDOW

Her Husband Eloped to the Philippines and Mrs. Stephens is Granted a Divorce.

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 19.—Because her husband became infatuated with a widow, who had a $30,000 bank account, and subsequently eloped with her, presumably to the Philippines, Mrs. Harriet Stephens of this city, has been granted an absolute divorce from J. M. Stephens, one of the best known expert loom men and machinists in the country. The Stephenses are New Yorkers, but for the past 10 years have lived at various points all over the country. It was at Creed, Colo., it is said, that Stephens met through the agency of a matrimonial bureau, the widow who had the bulging bank roll. He wooed and won her, and after writing his wife, who was then in Knoxville, a letter to say that when she received the missive he and the widow whose name he did not mention for obvious reasons, would be on the boundless ocean en route for the Philippines. Stephens and the woman in black departed and have never been heard from since. This letter was a portion of Mrs. Stephens' proof of her husband's perjury.

A CHRISTMAS GREETING

A Poem of the Yuletide

SONG for old Christmas,
For jolly old Christmas,
The monarch of merriment, fun
and good cheer!
Let all the bells chiming
Ring out with a rhyming
Christmas, good Christmas, King
Christmas is here!

Pile up the log fire
Still higher and higher;
He loves the bright blaze of a wide open hearth.

No shadow of sadness
Must darken our gladness,
For Christmas, blithe Christmas, now
rules the broad earth.

The stars are all winking
As if they were drinking
Time out of ethereal champagne that he brings.

The winds shout in chorus:
"Long may he reign o'er us!
Good Christmas, blithe Christmas, the greatest of kings!"

"HAIL TO KING CHRISTMAS!"
O'er snow piles, high drifted,
His throne is uplifted!
His mantle is pinned by the North Polar star.
And down the dim ages
Saints, sinners and sages
Cry, "Hail to King Christmas, who rules near and far!"
His brows wreathed with holly,
Fat, rosy and jolly,
He sways the proud scepter no monarch

can't lose
O'er riches that are boundless
And deep love that are soundless,
For he, mighty Christmas, alone rules the round!

Then pile up the purses
Of all whom these verses
May reach with their tidings of jolly
good cheer!
Their presents be many,
Their fun best of any,
For Christmas comes once—only once—in a year

THE CHRISTMAS BIRD.

How to Prepare and Cook a Goose.
Old or Young.

A goose is the typical Christmas bird, although most families dine on turkey that day, and some like a pair of ducks and a fine roast of beef. The goose must be young, or what is called a green goose. Yellow and flexible feet are a sign of youth. A goose is dressed and trussed in the same manner as a turkey, but the skin should be thoroughly washed.

Sage and onions are the traditional seasonings, and a very good way to stuff a goose is to boil and mash some white potatoes and season lightly with onion juice, sage, also salt and pepper.
Dredge the outside lightly with salt
and pepper and thickly with flour.
Lay the goose on a rack in the baking pan and put a few tablespoonsful of water in the pan; baste often. Twenty minutes to the pound is the average time to allow for the baking. Garnish with blood oranges cut in sections on parsley, celery tips or any other green garnish.

Make a sauce from the contents of the pan, thickening with flour, and after straining add the giblets, which have been cooked until tender in water and chopped coarsely.

An old goose cannot be cooked satisfactorily in this way. It will need to be parboiled and then broiled.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

FEEDING THE BIRDS.

A Happy Christmas Custom Among Swedish Peasants.

Christmas is celebrated in Sweden to an extent unknown in our country, and the celebration is not over until Jan.
13, or "twentieth day Yule." A very pretty feature of the festivities is thus described by a writer who has visited that country: One wintry afternoon,
at Yule-tide (as the season is called), I had been skating on a pretty lake three miles from Gothenberg. On my way home I noticed that at every farmer's house there was erected, in the middle of the yard, a pole, to the top of which was bound a large, full sheaf of grain.
"Why is this?" I asked my comrade.
"Oh, that's for the birds, the little wild birds. They must have a merry Christmas, too, you know." And so it is; not a peasant in Sweden will sit down to a Christmas dinner within doors until he has first raised aloft a Christmas dinner for the birds in the cold and snow without.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

PUEBLO INDIAN CHRISTMAS

An Admixture of Christianity and Tribal Customs

THE Pueblo Indians of New Mexico celebrate Christmas in their primitive way, and, although they profess Christianity, they also observe their religious as well as their tribal customs,
says the New York Evening Post. On Christmas eve the inhabitants of each village assemble at the estufa (place of worship) and elect officers for the ensuing year. Men and boys over sixteen years of age, if the latter have proved their worthiness in the chase,
select the candidates by a viva voce vote. Women are not permitted in the estufa. The officers elected are a governor of the village, war chief, police official and a council of five members
as a kind of cabinet for the governor. The governor, by the advice and consent of his cabinet, sets the time for the chase, when the entire village turns out; also designates the time to irrigate the little patches, the time to go to work and is ex officio administrator of justice. The war chief directs the pasturing of stock and prevents depredations upon private property. He is the chief of police, constable, judge and jury combined. Only serious cases of crime are referred to the governor and council.

After the election of officers a grand dance takes place. The braves are dressed in buckskin pantaloons, with a white cotton shirt. The headress is of the skin of the deer or fox, the tail of the animal hanging down the back as an ornament. Some of the headresses of the officials are prettily decorated with bright feathers and sometimes eagle plumes. Their faces are painted in yellow and white stripes,
relieved by red spots on the cheeks.
They wear moccasins of leather. The braves form in a double line and march around the village, preceded by the officers and the cacique, or spiritual head. Each brave carries in his left hand a gourd half filled with pebbles
and nicks at the top. In his right hand is a convex stick, which he saws
across the gourd and at the same time gives the gourd a shake or rattle. This excruciating noise is partly drowned
by the general chant, in which all join.
The song is a monotone, as if the singer were telling a story or reciting historical sketches, and suddenly it breaks out into a wild and loud blare,
like the crash of the elements of dis-
cord in the grand opera of civilization.
The dance is a bippetty hop, and the movement is slow until one of these breaks is sounded, and then it is delir-ous, like a war dance. This exercise continues all night, or as long as the braves can stand up. There is a considerable quantity of mescal drunk at these celebrations, and many of the braves fall by the wayside. The pale-faces from the surrounding settlements attend the fiesta, and some bring along

their whisky and gaming implements.
In the plaza, or central square, there are all kinds of games and booths for all kinds of drinks. The Pueblo Indian is not used to our whisky, and a very little soon induces him to gamble away his money, clothes and wife.

Isleta, a few miles from Albuquerque, N. M., is the largest of the twenty Pueblo villages in the territory, and the celebration here is always attended by a large crowd of whites. It lasts two or three days, during which there are horse racing, cocking, mauls and other sports. The gaming tables are run night and day. One of the games is chusa, similar to the American roulette, with a hidden spring which the dealer touches. Another sport is el gallo—the burying of a rooster in the sand, leaving his head above the surface. The best riders in the village are selected to compete. They form in a front line at a distance of 100 yards, and charge down upon the rooster. The rider, going at full run, leans from his saddle
and grabs at the head of the rooster.
If he catches the fowl, he is applauded as the victor. He then races for his home, with all the other horsemen following him, with the intention of depriving him of his trophy. If they take the fowl from him before he reaches home, he is scorn of his laurels, and in the scramble the unfortunate rooster is often torn to pieces. When a rider misses catching the rooster's head,
every one laughs, and if he falls from his horse he is greeted with shouts
of derision and epithets of "squaw man."

There are services in the church each morning during the fiesta, with the usual game and sports in the afternoon and dancing at night. The services are Roman Catholic—all Pueblos being members of that church. They, however, observe some of their own rights in secret—the dance being part of their creed worship.

Christmas in Jerusalem.

Christmas is held in greatest reverence by the Christians of the east, and nowhere is its observance more solemn and imposing than in Bethlehem, the picturesque old town where Christ was born. On Christmas eve the devout of Jerusalem gather together and flock out of the city and march to the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem,
the oldest monument of Christian architecture in the world. There mass is celebrated, while armed Turkish soldiers stand on guard beside the altar and around the brilliant star, where Christ is supposed to have lain in the manger and which gleams up from the pavement, the most conspicuous object in the grotto.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

INCENTIVE TO EFFORT.

The Lesson Lincoln's Life Teaches to
the Idle Born.

It is human nature to take it easy
when we can, and with most people a big bank account will paralyze effort and destroy ambition. Who can tell what would have been the effect on our national history had Abraham Lincoln been born in luxury, surrounded with great libraries, free to the multi-form advantages of schools, colleges and universities, the manifold opportunities for culture that wealth bestows? Who shall say whether the absence of all incentive to effort might not have smothered such a genius?

What wealthy, city bred youth of today, glutted with opportunities for acquiring knowledge, can feel that hunger for books, that thirst for knowledge that spurred Lincoln to scour the wilderness for many miles to borrow the coveted "Life of Washington" which he had heard that some one in the neighborhood owned?

What young lawyer of our day goes to a law school or library with such a keen appetite, with such a yearning for legal knowledge, as this youth had when he actually walked forty-four miles to borrow Blackstone's "Commentaries?"

Where is the student in college or university today who experiences that satisfaction, that sense of conquest, which thrilled Lincoln while lying on the floor of his log cabin working out arithmetical problems on a wooden shovel by the light of a wood fire or enthusiastically devouring the contents of a borrowed book, as if his eyes
would never rest on its pages again?

On reading Lincoln's Gettysburg
speech and his second inaugural address foreign readers exclaimed,
"Whence got this man his style, seeing he knows nothing of literature?" Well might they exclaim, but their astonishment would have been still greater had they known that those eloquent utterances that thrilled the nation's heart had fallen from the lips of one who in his youth had access to but four books—the Bible, "Pilgrim's Progress," Weems' "Life of Washington"
and Burns' poems.—Success.

Yuletide Rhymes and Jingles

Johnnie Has a Head For Business.
"Johnnie, what do you want me to buy you for Christmas?"
"How much money have you got?"—
Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Unpoetic.

"Christmas is in the air," said Mrs.
Fosdick, looking out of the window.
"Oh, that's mostly soot you see,"
her husband explained.—Detroit Free Press.

His One Request.

Mamma—Now, what would you like best for a Christmas present?
Willie—Oh, I'd like to see the schoolhouse burn down! May 12—Philadelphia Press.

Undoubtedly.

"I wish you a happy and prosperous
new year," said the sourette.
"Thank you," replied the contortionist, "I am reasonably sure of making both ends meet."

Sudden and Surprising.

"What do you most desire for Christmas, Miss Mabel?"
"Oh, George, this is so sudden!"
"Wh—what do you mean?"
"Why, of course, I want you!"

Not Through Yet.

"What kind of a Christmas did you pass?" asked the friend.
"The same as usual," answered Mr.
Bliggins sourly. "Twenty minutes of turkey and mince pie, and six weeks
of pepsin."—Washington Star.

Christmas Cause.

There is a Christmas tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to—bankruptcy.

A young man will "hang up" more than his stocking if he buys his best girl a present.

The tall man will be short after Christmas.

A man is thankful for small favors;
but No. 12 slippers do not come under
that head.

It will not be necessary to tell the neighbors that you gave your son a drum.—Truth.

Why?

One of the wonderful things is that a woman of fair intelligence will paint
her cheeks like a clown's and appear on the streets. Why does she do it?
Does she imagine that people think the paint is bloom of youth? Does she not know that people laugh at her? There are two things that people are quick to notice—when a man wears a wig
and when a woman paints her cheeks.
—Acheson Globe.

YULETIDE IN AUSTRIA.

Customs and Legends of the Non-German Population.

Yuletide as kept by the non-German population of Austria is very picturesque. On Christmas day the Poles in Galicia first attend mass and then sit down to family supper. The chief dish
on the table contains consecrated eggs,
which the father distributes. After eating, all eyes are closed and all heads bowed down to the table in the belief that Jacob's ladder is then descending from heaven to earth and down the ladder angels are coming to bless the worshippers and to carry away their earthly troubles to heaven. Among the Czechs the legend runs that he who most strictly fasts on Christmas eve
will see the holy Christ in his dreams that night. In the evening the real celebration begins. All lights are then extinguished in the house; no fire, no light is visible. The children crowd together in fear and remain perfectly silent, as otherwise they know they will receive none of the presents brought by the Christ Child and laid at the entrance of the house. The older females amuse themselves by throwing heated lead into water and gathering
from the forms it assumes some hint
as to the appearance of their future husbands.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Weather Map Hog Killing Guide.

"I kill my hogs from the capitol,"
said a southern statesman in the lobby of the house the other day, according to the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, "and I have just telegraphed an order to my foreman to commence the slaughter. This guides my action," he said as he pointed to the weather map which has been erected by the weather bureau in the representatives' lobby back of the hall of the house. "I see by the map that it is freezing in Texas, and hog killing time is at hand."

New Buses For Old Lunnos.

A large number of motor omnibuses
of a new type will soon be upon London streets. They are being built near Edinburgh for a London syndicate and will have a maximum speed of fourteen miles an hour. They will be fitted with two powerful brakes and will be upholstered in red leather.
Large windows will be used, which may be removed in hot weather. When empty, the vehicle weighs 3,200 pounds.
It will form a pleasing contrast in elegance and comfort to the present horse
bus.

Look Out For 1,000 Foot Steamers.

A. W. Robinson in the Engineering Magazine says that vessels of 1,000 feet in length and 40 feet or more draft will have to be reckoned with before very long, and only those seaports which have prepared themselves
for such visitors will be able to reap
the advantages of the commerce which such ships will bring.

PLAIN PIRACY.

When the British and German fleets seized the Venezuelan ships at La Guayra the German commander gave the commanders ten minutes in which to lower their flag and leave their ships.

"This," said the German commander, Eckerman, "is not a measure of war on the part of Germany, but only with the object of making a provisional seizure of your ships in order to oblige the Venezuelan government to recognize our just demands."

Having obtained possession of the ships, Eckerman promptly proceeded to sink them. This, too, was not a measure of war, perhaps. Eckerman only sunk them "provisionally," the world is invited to believe.

The highwayman knocks the victim down and strips him of his valuables.

"This is not a measure of war," says the knight of the road. "It is only a provisional seizure of your valuables in order to compel you to recognize our just claims upon other valuables of yours."

Then he strips his victim, burns his clothes and hamstring him.

"This," he continues, "is not a measure of war. It is only a provisional performance looking to some more performances of the same kind."

Commander Eckerman was partly right. These stand-and-deliver acts and acts of destruction were not measures of war recognized as legitimate by international law. They were acts of piracy.

Regardless of the question whether they involved a defiance of the Monroe doctrine or whether they were intended to lead up to such defiance by two great powers and such others as might choose to join them, they were acts of plain piracy denounced by modern international law, and no country can uphold them without repudiating that law and deserving to be classed as uncivilized.

When members of the British cabinet rise in the House of Commons and say that such acts were necessary to teach Castro to respect international law they manifest their own contempt for what they pretend to be teaching to others.

England and Germany and now Italy pretend they are engaged merely in collecting just claims. Then why do they not confine themselves to the measures necessary in order to the collection of those claims?

Why, without declaring war and professing to intend nothing but a peaceful blockade, do they give Venezuelan commanders only ten minutes in which to surrender, then sink the surrendered ships and then proceed on insufficient notice to bombard and capture forts?

The pretense that these measures are peaceful or necessary in order to collect just claims or anything less than piratical assaults upon the ships and property of a sovereign state is simply false.

We have a right to expect something better than the defense of such acts, at least from Great Britain.

Are Non-Unionists To Tell

Of the Abuses Endured by Them In Strike

PENNA COUNSEL TODAY MADE A STATEMENT

TO THE STRIKE COMMISSION.

Evidence to Show Reign of Terror During the Strike—Adjournment Saturday Till Jan. 5.

Seranton, Pa., Dec. 19.—The court room where the anthracite coal strike commission is hearing evidence in the controversy between the operators and miners was crowded with non-union men this morning eager to tell of abuses and sufferings endured by the then at the hands of the strikers. These witnesses have been sought out by the operators and brought to the commission to tell their stories. On cross-examination they are forced to admit that they are not receiving sufficient wages for the labor given. The side of the non-union men will occupy the rest of the sitting of the commission in this city.

Judge Gray will adjourn the commission shortly after noon tomorrow to meet in Philadelphia on January 5. The counsel for the Pennsylvania Coal company submitted its statement to the commission this morning. Judge Gray said that the committee felt that the statement submitted by the Pennsylvania Coal company regarding the wages of the fathers of the silk mill girls had deceived both the company's counsel and the commission because of a mistake on the part of the company clerk and the commission did not wish the impression to get abroad that the company had intended to deceive.

The statement of the Pennsylvania company showed that the annual earnings per contract was $1,226.49, but "on account of the uncertainty of the best information which it has been possible to obtain as to the number of miners or laborers in each contract, the average earnings of each miner or laborer has not been stated."

The coal strike commission listened to further testimony tending to show that a reign of terror existed in the anthracite coal fields during the five and a half months of the miners' strike. About a score of witnesses were called during the two sessions by the attorneys for the non-union men. They told of serious boycotts, brutal attacks by crowds of men, women and boys, and the attempt to burn the house of a non-union man. In most instances the witnesses testified that the alleged offenders were members of the miners' union.

Max Lasars, a non-union Polish miner of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, said that repeated attempts were made to blow up his house by dynamite. The attempts were frequent. Lasar told the commission that early one morning union strikers stole up to his house, and breaking a pane of glass dropped a large bottle of powder with a lighted fuse into the room. The bottle was produced in court and contained over a quart of powder. Counsel for the miners created a laugh by stating that the bottle was "only put into Lasar's house to frighten the occupants."

NOVEL USE FOR X RAYS.

Thievery In Japanese Mines to Be Exposed by the Machine.

The Japanese government has put the X rays to a practical use according to the Electrical World and Engineer. A firm in Philadelphia has recently sold to that government one of its machines for a novel purpose. The representative of Japan who placed the order said that in the governmental mines a great many gold dollars are coined, and there has been considerable loss through dishonest employees swallowing the small coins and thus taking them out of the mints. There has been no way of preventing this until a clever official suggested the use of the X rays, and the machine was ordered at once.

It is not proposed to put every employee to the test when leaving the mints, but he will be searched by electricity from time to time, unexpectedly, and any one of the employees may be called up at any time to undergo the test. It is believed that the fear of detection will prevent the stealing at least in the form now used.

Winter weather comfort comes from rich, red blood, full of natural heat, and strong, steady nerves, together with an abundance of good flesh.

PIET DE WET A TRAITOR.

So Alleges Reitz, Former Secretary of the Transvaal.

E. W. Reitz, formerly secretary of the Transvaal, said the other night, according to a Chicago special to the New York World, that the man whom General Christian De Wet had in mind when he denounced in his book some of the Boers as traitors was his own brother, Piet De Wet.

"I want the people of this country to know this," he said. "Piet De Wet turned traitor, received a commission in the English army and led British troops against his kinsmen in the last days of the war. If the brothers ever meet, General Christian De Wet will kill Piet."

Reitz declared that other Boer leaders who turned traitors were Andries Cronje and General Prinsloo.

Thoughtfulness of a Stranger.

Mrs. Lillian Blauvelt, who is now singing in England, resorted to heroic measures when news of the coal strike in the United States reached her, says the New York Evening World. Determined that her father, a New Yorker, should not freeze, she straightaway went to work and purchased twenty tons of Welsh coal and shipped it home. Unloaded at New York, it figured up just $7.25 a ton. The price in that city at the time was $6.50, but Mr. Blauvelt took the cheerful view that it was worth much more than the difference to know he had so thoughtful a daughter.

UNIQUE PROPOSALS.

SOME RATHER CURIOUS METHODS OF POPPING THE QUESTION.

Writing an Order of Marriage With a Shotgun—Inditing a Love Letter With a Waterfall—Flowers and Vegetables Popped Into Service.

Miss Annie Oakley, the champion rifle shot, was practicing in a London shooting gallery one day, firing at the regulation carbouard target, when a stranger happened along and, picking up a spare rifle, fired 100 shots thereat, the whole spelling out the following message: "Will you marry me?"

The lady was naturally somewhat surprised; but, not to be outdone, she promptly replied after similar fashion with her own match rifle, "Certainly not."

This is probably unique as an offer of marriage, but it is a fact that a young matron living in a south London suburb has in her possession at this present moment several rifle written love letters.

The lady in question was formerly an attendant at a shoot as saltery in a certain popular place of amusement ("or, alas, to be closed forever) which is "Gown Westminster way," and her sweetheart that was and behead that is used to drop in of an evening to practice. He became so expert after awhile that he could place the shots where he liked to within a fraction of an inch, and he frequently used his skill when no inconvenient onlookers were around in the manner indicated. Needless to say that as soon as he had finished the little perforated squares of cartridge paper were carefully removed and preserved by her for whom alone the messages so curiously written were intended.

The most far famed feature of the beautiful Yosemite valley, in California, is the Bridal Veil fall. It descends from the plateau, nearly 3,000 feet above, in a single ribbon of silvery water limned luminously against the dark vertical face of the precipice.

Perhaps it was its romantic name which suggested to Charles Evelyn, a young and wealthy San Franciscan, to utilize the falling streamlet in an altogether novel fashion. Anyhow he spent several thousand dollars in constructing at the summit of the cliff, just where the water gathers itself together for its final terrific leap into the abyss below, a sort of vertically sliding sluice door which worked so smoothly and so perfectly that it could be lowered and raised several times in the course of a single minute.

Then when his preparations were complete he brought to the valley from her far eastern home the young lady to whom he was engaged, and by alternately raising and lowering the sluice gates above for longer or shorter intervals, as the case might be, he caused the cascade to tell her in spurs and jets, corresponding to the dots and dashes of the Morse alphabet, of the love he bore her. Whether the lady exactly approved of this blazoning abroad of what should have been a message sacred to her eyes alone is not recorded, but she has, at all events, the supreme satisfaction of reflecting that she is the only woman in the world to whom a love letter has been indited by a harnessed waterfall.

Love letters spelled out in fireworks are of course common. One such written aloft in particular: globes of flame and addressed by a Magyar noble to his affianced bride at Hermannstadt is said to have cost $500.

In a Sussex garden a lover but less than swain sowed in mustard and brass a marriage proposal to the daughter of his next door neighbor, and the first one, not to be outdone, answered, "Yes," in radishes. They were married without delay, and both the proposal and the answer were served and eaten at the wedding breakfast.

After all, however, it is doubtful whether the modern lover has, on the whole, progressed very far in the matter of inventing novelties, either in marriage proposals or love letters. Nearly 4,000 years ago a proposal for the hand of an Egyptian princess was inscribed elaborately on a block of solid stone and can be seen to this day by any one curious in such matters in the British museum. Machabees, an old time king of Colchis, wooed his wife by sending her presents of young and beautiful child slaves, each of whom had some tender and loving message tattooed on the skin of the back, while, coming down to more recent times, it is recorded of the Prince de Conti that he sent to a certain great lady a proposal indited on a golden plaque, exquisitely engraved, the letters of the words of the epistle being formed of diamonds, rubies and emeralds set in the metal.

The lady's answer was, however, in the negative, whereupon the prince requested that she would at least do him the honor of accepting a ring containing a miniature of himself. To this she assented, but stipulated that the ring should be destitute of jewels. The tiny portrait was accordingly set in a simple rim of gold, but to cover the jointing a large diamond, cut very thin, served as a glass. The lady promptly returned the jewel, whereupon the prince had it ground to powder, which he used to dry the ink of the note he wrote to her on the subject.—London Times.

There by Right.

One of them went over and while peered to the stranger who had come in and taken a seat.

"I beg your pardon, but this is a waiting of wait a woman, met to protest against."

"I am a traveling preacher's wife," said the stranger.

And they made her the president of the meeting.—Chicago Tribune.

and Diseases of Men and Women Positively Cured by THE FRANCE TREATMENT.

The France Medical Institute

38-40 West Gay Street, Columbus, Ohio. On Block North of Statehouse.

ESTABLISHED 1886.

Oldest—Most Reliable—Best Equipped.

Our long experience, remarkable skill and universal success for the past twenty years in Ohio entitles us to the full confidence of the afflicted.

We Treat and Cure Medical and Surgical Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat and Lungs, Stomach, Kidney, Liver, Blood, Syphilis, Bladder, Nervous, Chronic, Female and Sexual Diseases, specially cured by treatment that has never failed in thousands of cases which have been pronounced beyond hope. We have perfected the most successful method of curing Vitiated Blood in Urine, Neurasthenia, Loss of Memory, Melancholy, Want of Energy, Premature Decline of the Manly Powers—those terrible diseases which ruin the life of thousands of men, rendering marriage unhappy, annually sweeping an untold number of talented and brilliant intellects. It costs no more to employ a physician than to risk your life with an inexperienced physician. The France System of Local Treatment, with Medicated Pad for Men is positive, the most complete and successful known for Varicocele, Stricture, weak and undeveloped organs.

ALL CURABLE CASES GUARANTEED.

OUR MEDICATED BOUGIE NEVER FAILS TO CURE.

THE FRANCE URETHRAL TREATMENT is a Medicated Bougie for the cure of Stricture and a cure of Diseases of the Bladder, Urethra, and Prostatic Gland. The Bougies are inserted into the urethra canal upon retiring at night, and slip into position without the slightest effort, requiring but a few minutes to dissolve. They act like a mild electric current, invigorating and imparting vitality to the entire body. The curative effect is felt from the first application. Our special treatment completely dissolves the Stricture and permanently removes obstructions from the urinary passage.

Treatment by Correspondence. Each person applying for medical treatment should bring or send from two to four ounces of urine, which will receive a careful chemical and microscopic examination. We have cured thousands of cases, we have never seen. Write for book of 100 pages and list of 500 questions. Correspondence, Consultation and Examination free and strictly confidential. No names published without the written consent of the patient. Treatment sent by mail or express to any part of the United States.

Hints to Holiday Shoppers.

Christmas is Just Around the Corner.

Everybody is thinking of what to give, to whom, and how best to do it, and it is by answering just such questions aptly and satisfactorily that makes this such a popular store. It is wise to plan early and not defer buying until just before the day. Choosing at leisure allows thought for selection, and appropriateness makes the gift doubly prized.

TELEPHONE—The directors of the Newark Telephone company elected Tuesday night organized Thursday evening by electing Harry Swisher president, John C. Brennan vice president, C. H. Spencer secretary, Benj. Franklin treasurer, Edward Kibler attorney, J. K. Hamill and W. S. Weiland executive committee.

ESTRAY BOOK—An estray book is kept in the office of the County Clerk for the purpose of registering estrays for the purpose of registering estrays book was entered there in January, 1850, fifty-three years ago. The last entry notice is of a black horse, sixteen hands high, weighing 1150 pounds, white on fore feet, taken up by Austin Stinson of Alexandria.

CHURCH SUPPER—The ladies of the Licking Baptist church in Union township gave a supper on Wednesday night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, near Union Station, for the benefit of the church. There was a good attendance, an elegant supper, and every one present reported a splendid time.

AN OLD LICENSE—Among the ancient curiosities in the Probate Court office is a venerable marriage license record of the date of 1825, which has escaped the various Court House fires. A marriage license issued in that year to parties whose names are not published for obvious reasons, contains the following return to the court by the officiating clergyman, who did not officiate, "She would not have him." Only this and nothing more.

GRANVILLE

RUMOR OF ARREST OF ONE OF THE ROBBERS.

Mark Eddy is Much Improved—Mr. Beckel's Daughter is Taken East for Treatment.

Granville, O., Dec. 19—The amount of booty secured by the robbers of the postoffice on Monday night has been ascertained by the postoffice inspector, who came here to look into the matter, to be in the neighborhood of $1000. Of this amount $783.50 were government funds and the balance were the individual funds of Postmaster Austin. The rumor that one of the burglars had been captured in Columbus on Thursday night, was received with a great deal of satisfaction here, but as as yet the rumor has not been verified.

Miss Grace Young of Columbus, who has been visiting here for some days, has returned home.

After a short visit with friends here Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swartz of Cincinnati have returned home.

The many friends in Granville of Miss Florence Beckel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beckel, who has been suffering with Graves' disease for some time past, will be sorry to learn that her condition has become such that it has been deemed necessary to take her to New York to be treated by a celebrated specialist and she will leave for that city this evening, accompanied by her mother.

Judge Spellman Downer, of Boulder, Colo., and Frank M. Downer, of Longmont, Colo., have been called here by the serious illness of their mother.

Miss Mollie Stephenson of Atlanta, Ga., will be with her sister, Mrs. Prof. Watson, until after the holidays.

Mr. Mark Eddy who was suddenly taken sick in Dye's grocery on Wednesday, and dropped off into a deep slumber from which he did not awaken until Thursday morning, is now himself again. He had not been feeling well for some time, and it is supposed that he had taken an overdose of a drug, which caused him to go to sleep.

AS EVIDENCE

TO SUSTAIN A CLAIM MADE FOR A PENSION

Wisconsin Man Sent to His Congressman His Hand Which Had Been Amputated by Doctor.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The most gruesome bit of evidence ever submitted in a claim for pension has just been received from Adam Gosage, of Warsaw, Wis., by Representative Brown. Gosage is one of Brown's constituents.

The evidence was one of the hands of the applicant. It came to the Congressman, carefully wrapped in tissue paper and cotton batting. When Mr. Brown received the box in which the hand was enclosed he thought of the nearness of Christmas and so invited his neighbors in the House to watch him while he undid the gift he presumed some admiring constituent had sent him.

A look of horror spread over the faces of those who had been asked to witness the opening when they caught sight of two fingers. Mr. Brown did not know whether to go on or to turn the box over to the authorities. His friends persuaded him to open the package and see if there was anything in the way of a note of explanation.

There was. In it Gosage explained that he was tired of trying to convince the authorities that his hand had really been amputated because of the wound he had received while in the service. Therefore he determined to send it. He had preserved it because he had an idea that sometime someone would question the authenticity of the story he told.

Mr. Brown returned the hand to his constituent, with the statement that an affidavit from the doctor who had amputated it would do as well as the hand—in fact, it would do better, as the mere fact that the amputated member had been sent was merely evidence of the general fact that someone's hand had at some unknown time been cut off by a surgeon.

STEELE GUILTY

Steele developed that there is a feeling of bitterness between himself and Herbert Bradley, attorney, who figured in the evidence. The defendant created a sensation by declaring that Bradley had been blackmailed before, and that was the reason he was so solicitous to keep Mrs. Miller's mouth closed. "I know it of my own personal knowledge," he said in reply to a question. "I know that Bradley offered $500 to a boy to steal a certain letter for him."

The defense called Miss Clara Miller to testify that the little red book containing the names of the men in the case originally belonged to her, and that her mother had taken it from her last April.

Postmaster Rownd, Joseph A. Jeffrey, Judge N. W. Dick, General H. C. Taylor, Franklin Rabrecht, Frank Hubbard, Fred Lazarus, F. R. Hoover and C. S. Cherrington, prominent manufacturers, merchants and attorneys, were called to prove that Humane Officer Spencer was a truthful person, his reliability having been attacked through Probate Judge Galloway. A stir was caused by the recalling of Herbert Bradley, who testified that he had met Steele last Tuesday a week and that the latter had asked him to be as lenient as possible on the stand when the case was called.

While endeavoring to get out of the way of a little mouse which startled her a young woman fell and fractured her leg at Hilgay Penn. Norfolk, Eng.

The Great Seal Drawing Contest

The judges who have consented to decide this contest are Mrs. A. C. Hatch, Miss Daisy Cherry, Prof. F. M. Townsend.

The character and ability of these well known artists and art critics, will assure each pupil that the books will be judged according to merit.

Many books, some of which represent excellent work, will not be entered in the contest for not complying with all the conditions. Many books have neither grade, name of teacher or name of pupil, some have name of pupil only, and all such are thrown out as it is not possible to determine if what grade they should be entered.

The contest has been most satisfactory to us and the number of books returned, which was about 1200 exceeded our greatest expectations.

The result from an advertising standpoint is pleasing to us and beneficial to our patrons for it has proved to hundreds of families that GREAT SEAL PRUNE LAXATIVE and GREAT SEAL COUGH BALM are all and more than we have ever claimed for them.

Our only regret is that each pupil who tried so faithfully could not receive a prize.

Names of the winners will be announced in this paper Wednesday, December 24th.

STYRON, BEGGS & CO.

IMPOSED

ON FATHER B. M. O'BOYLAN AND GOT $14.

Given Money to Help in Time of Need Then Used the Same to Get Drunk.

John Vanderhoff was the name given by a man arrested Thursday night by Officer McClatchey for being drunk. This morning Rev. Father B. M. O'Boylan appeared in police court and told the Mayor that Vanderhoff came to him Thursday and got $14 from him for the ostensible purpose of buying some farm produce, west of Newark, promising to repay the money as soon as possible. He evidently used part of it to get drunk and the priest now believes that he was imposed upon. Vanderhoff tells a disconnected story and is being held for further developments in his case.

CHRISTMAS

Entertainment at Miss Smith's Private School Friday Morning—Program of the Occasion.

Miss Frances Smith's private school gave a very pleasing Christmas entertainment at her home, 102 East Main street at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

The room used for the school was prettily decorated with evergreen and flowers and a charming effect made by lighted candles, about the room, which had been darkened.

The following program was observed:

Bible Story, Gabriel's Announcement to the Virgin Mother. Her Hymn of Praise and the Vision of the Shepherds by the School.

Conversation, How Uncle Sam Keeps Christmas in the Various Departments of His Large Household, by the School.

Recitation, Shoe or Stocking, Mary Sheppard.

Who Can Tell? Mary Van Fossen.

Story, Christmas Adventures of a Doll, Mary Maholm.

Christmas Verse, George Van Fossen.

RECEPTION

TO BE GIVEN AT THE Y. M. C. A. ON NEW YEAR'S DAY.

Committees Met Thursday Evening to Arrange the Program for That Occasion.

At the special meeting of the members of the various committees at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night the following order of exercises was decided upon for the big New Year's Reception which the Association will give to the young men of Newark on New Year's afternoon and evening:

2 to 4 p. m.—In the Parlors—Reception by the members to the young men of the city. Informal program, literary and musical features.

4:30 to 6 p. m.—In the Gymnasium—Boys' Brigade, Calisthenic Drills, Apparatus Work, etc., showing the regular work of the department.

6 to 7—Light lunch to be served by the Reception committee.

The afternoon exercises up to 7 o'clock will be for men only and a hearty invitation is extended to the young men of Newark to spend the afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Building.

In the evening at 8 o'clock an exceptionally strong entertainment will be put on in Taylor Hall to which the general public is invited. Announcement of talent and price of admission will be made later.

The committee on decoration are planning to put up a calendar exhibit and request that the entire membership co-operate by sending in all kinds of calendars. Business houses are invited to be represented and if any one will loan calendars for the day the committee will see that they are carefully returned afterwards.

Other features for the day's enjoyment are being considered and will be announced in due time.

SOUR STOMACH

(Acid Dyspepsia.)

Now Recognized as the Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to promptly digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because Dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

It is now well known among able physicians that the whole constitution is gradually undermined and weakened, that the nerves and vital organs are seriously affected by any form of dyspepsia. This is plain, as every organ, every nerve in the body is nourished by the blood and the blood is replenished from the food digested. If the food is properly digested the blood is pure, the nerves steady, but if supplied from a sour, fermenting, decaying mass the blood is vitiated, poisoned and the result is shown in sleeplessness, lack of energy, poor appetite, nervousness. Every trifle is magnified and the dyspeptic sees nothing but the dark side of everything.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and it is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

It is not claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia and stomach weakness in its various forms, but for this it has been shown to be unequalled. The eminent specialists, Reed and O'Leary, have recently stated that they considered Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets an unfailing specific for disorders of the digestive organs, and the remarkable cures made in cases of long standing dyspepsia prove that this remedy has extraordinary merit.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 75 cents per package, and while it promptly and effectively restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless, and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion, strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

STORIES OF OCHILTREE

How the Famous Texas Colonel Resented an Introduction.

AN INSTANCE OF HIS GALLANTRY

Charming Manner in Which He Came to the Rescue of a Lady in Saratoga—Story of the Only Poker Game in Which He Lost—An Experience in the Civil War.

As a story teller the late Colonel Thomas P. Ochiltree, former congressman from Texas, famous wit and bon vivant, was unsurpassed, but, as is invariably the case, his stories lose the charm of his personality in retelling.

His intimates and most of the newspapers described him as a liar of colossal magnitude, says the New York Evening World. One day when the colonel was returning from the Sheephead Bay track two men came into the car. One of them recognized the Texan and said to his friend:

"Come here, Bob; I want to introduce you to the biggest liar in the United States."

"Sir," replied Colonel Ochiltree, rising with great dignity from his seat, "I allow none but my most intimate friends to refer to me in that manner, and I do not regard you as one of them."

The two men sought the next car, squelched.

The colonel told this story about himself:

"When I was a young man, I went to the front with the Texas rangers. My father, a most religious man, gave me a Bible and told me to read it every night. I promised, and when I next saw him he asked:

"Have you read your Bible regularly, Tom?"

"Yes, father," I replied.

"The old gentleman took the book, opened it and pulled from between its pages a twenty dollar bill. He turned again and drew out another twenty and then another."

"I'm sorry you missed this money I put here for you," he said. And for once in my life I was speechless."

It was during his term in congress that Colonel Ochiltree told his famous story of the only poker game in which he lost. He said he played for twenty hours and got up from the table $10,000 loser.

"And the worst of it was," he concluded the story, "$5 of it was in cash."

The gallantry of Colonel Ochiltree was proverbial, but occasionally some story is heard which finds willing listeners among the thousands who knew him. It is said, for instance, that at Saratoga some summers ago he was one of a party of ladies and gentlemen in which he was assigned the special duty of escorting and caring for a lady of uncertain years and solemn visage, who was acting as chaperon for some of the young ladies, says the New York Tribune. During the day she lost her red parasol. It was found after much search and returned to her by the gallant colonel.

She examined it sufficiently to discover the absence of a red silk bow which had been tied in the handle and immediately announced the loss. "I have lost my red bow," she exclaimed. "What a pity! What a pity!" Colonel Tom came to the rescue promptly with an allusion to his own striking peculiarity of hair by saying: "I beg your pardon, madam; you have not lost your red bean. I am your red bean—your redheaded bean."

President Grant once heard that Ochiltree was not living in Texas, where he held a federal appointment. The president kept reading about the reports of the colonel being in Long Branch and Saratoga and everywhere except in Texas. He asked for an explanation, says the New York Press, and it was quickly forthcoming.

"Oh, that's easily explained. Mr. President," said the colonel. "I'm not the Tom Ochiltree those fellows are talking about. He is a race horse that John Chamberlain named after me." And it was a fact.

Colonel Ochiltree loved to do things on a large scale, says the New York American. "Hang the cost!" was his motto. He was at the opening of the first Paris exposition and happened to be in the New York Herald bureau when its account of the opening was about to be cabled across the ocean.

"As a special favor won't you duplicate that to my paper, the Houston Telegraph?" asked Ochiltree offhand.

"Certainly," replied Mr. Bennett.

The Houston Telegraph had never heard of before outside of Houston, but the next day it started the entire southwest by its extensive report of the opening of the fair. It made the paper, but it almost broke the owner.

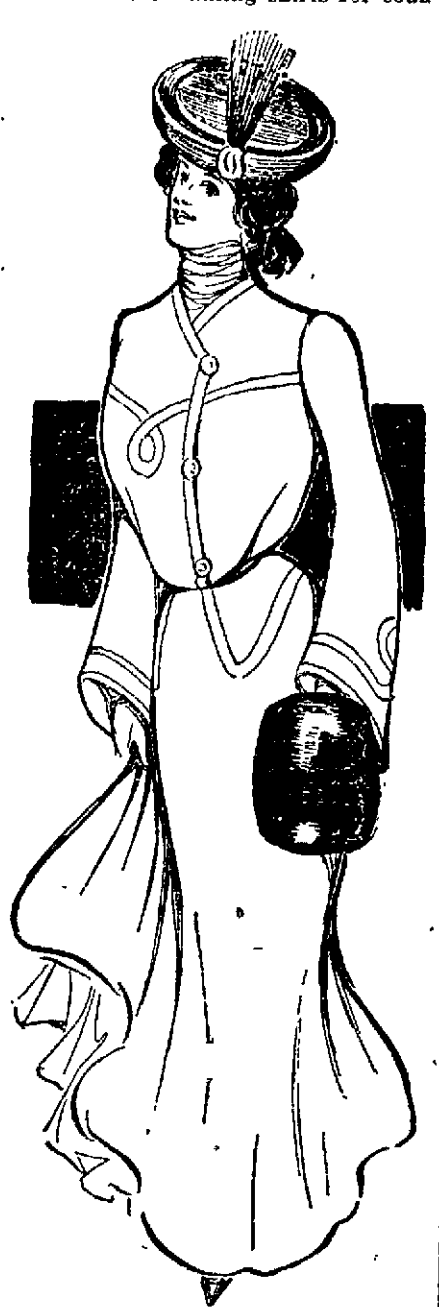

Ochiltree lost all he possessed at the Windsor hotel contagion in New York. Just after that disaster he approached former Congressman Jefferson M. Levy with his face beaming. "See here, Jeff," he said, producing a letter, "this shows what comes to a man when he always makes good. I have bought thousands of dollars worth of plunder at this man's place, and I never let a bill run by. I always paid up. I'm strong down there. Anything that Tom Ochiltree wants he gets. You see how thoughtful and kind the old man is. He hears the Windsor is burned up and I am burned out. What does he do? He sends me the finest toilet set in the store. It costs $750 if it costs a cent. He knew I would need it. I'm touched, Jeff. I'm indecibly touched. I'm moved to melancholy joy. That shows you, Jeff, my boy, that it always pays to live on the square."

TAILOR MADE STYLES.

Smart Fabrics and Color Combinations.

The fabrics which tailors are using are charming, and sartorial art has reached perfection. It is wonderful what an amount of detail and finish is put into every seam and tuck. A bright shade of emerald green zibeline is being used for certain smart tailor mades. Black, too, lined with green and worn with an all green hat, makes a charming costume.

Many of the tailors are making simple pouched coats, open in front to show a waistcoat of white and gold or some other beautiful embroidery. Some of the new short walking shirts for country and morning wear in town are very charming. They must clear the ground and are often kited to within four inches of the waist, where they are put into a shaped piece. Again, many of the quite plain skirts are strapped or braided.

Some of the tailor bodices still show the little tails, but these never became really popular, for they are not becoming. It is generally a mistake to take away from the length of the skirt.

The illustration shows a gray tailor made. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHIC TOUCHES.

Russian Embroidery—Several Furs on One Garment.

The little touches of Russian embroidery used on cloth gowns make them very bright and attractive. Those intermixed with deep coppery tinsel are very effective.

Plaited coats, reaching nearly to the hem of the gown, are charming for carriage wear, and the facings used on these models are handsome and elaborate.

Two or more furs are used on one garment, and this even on opera wraps. A large sack coat of broadcated satin in a yellowish shade had a large tippet of ermine fur bordered with plisse chiffon and flat revers of dark sable. A walking jacket of sack shape had a cross over collar partly of Persian lamb, with a scalloped border of ermine forming the other half.

Sting and stone colored laces are used on the bodice and leather tints of cloth, and the lace is generally included in shaped strappines of the cloth or used as a border, with straps on either side.

The SPORTING WORLD

A Great Football Captain.

Captain George B. Chadwick of the Yale eleven is one of the best all round football players seen on the gridiron during the past season. The Yale team finished the year's playing with a splendid record, due largely to Captain Chadwick's individual efforts.

Chadwick is a brother of Charles Chadwick, the former prominent Yale

CAPTAIN C. B. CHADWICK OF YALE.

player, and comes from Brooklyn, where he learned the game on a preparatory school team.

Captain Chadwick played sensationally in the games with Princeton and Harvard, in the former making the only two touchdowns secured by the wearers of the blue. He will be awarded a halfback's position on the All American's team of 1902.

In defeating both Princeton and Harvard Yale became the eastern champion of the year. Michigan holds the western title.

The Australian Heavyweight.

Jim Doherty, the Australian champion, who is coming here, looking for a fight, won't have to wear out his clothes waiting for a chance to see what he can do with our heavy artillery.

Billy Madden—the busy Billy—will hand him a gold mounted invitation to a meeting with either Gus Ruhlin or Denver Ed Martin.

Madden said recently that he couldn't think of anything more to his fancy than a go between the invader and Ruhlin.

"Ruhlin wants to fight," said Madden, "and, like the Dutchman who left his gun home and wanted it, he wants it bad."

It ought not to take long for Sam Fitzpatrick, Doherty's manager, and Madden to clinch such an arrangement. But it is likely that Doherty would rather take on some of the lighter fellows like Carter, O'Brien, Marvin Hart or McCoy before Ruhlin.

About the Horse's Age.

To distinguish merely between the young horses and the old it is only necessary to remember a few facts. The first is that the milk teeth are present until he is between four and five years old; that the "mark," or dark central depression on the surface of the incisors, becomes gradually worn out and in a horse over eight years old has nearly always disappeared from the teeth of the lower jaw; that the shape of the tooth is much wider from side to side than it is from front to back. As the horse becomes older the surface becomes progressively narrower from side to side, and instead of remaining oblong it becomes triangular and then in very old animals flattened from side to side.

Want McGovern and Jordan to Fight.

The National Sporting club of London has offered a $2500 purse for a fight between McGovern and Ben Jordan. The conditions offered by the club are twenty rounds at 122 pounds, weigh in at 2 o'clock on the day of the fight.

Dr. Ordway, the American representative of the London club, has seen McGovern and his manager, Sam Harris, and put the proposition to them. Jordan is ready to meet the ex-champion under the conditions named, but insists that there should be a side bet of from $1,000 to $2,000.

Spain's New Purchase.

John Splan of Chicago has purchased from A. S. Ashbrock for a long price Mary Wagner, by Strathmore—Mary S. by Alcantara. Mary Wagner is the dam of Barnmore that got Peter Stirling, holder of the world's record for three-year-old geldings.

The Monk's Owner.

Fred Gorkin, for years one of the most prominent of the New York speedway brigade and who gave The Monk a new lease of life, is now devoting his leisure time exclusively to the saddle horse.

Russian Trotting.

American bred trotters have been very successful on Russian tracks this year. The Russian champion four-year-old trotter this year is by Alvin, an American stallion.

Women as Well as Men

Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail absolutely free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. ### Latest Fashion Notes

LOOSE COAT OF TAN CLOTH.

Loose coats and wraps promise to be quite the thing for winter wear, a fact which is to be welcomed, as then we are less liable to crush our dainty waists—something every woman has experienced and deplored. The material of this very attractive model is the palest shade of tan cloth richly trimmed with cream "fleece" lace. The sleeves are quite wide and flaring and are ornamented with three very narrow folds showing at the edge several rows of machine stitching done with the same shade of Corticelli silk, size D, which is generally used by the best dressmakers for this work.

DR. CLEMONS

TELLS ABOUT FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Which is Playing Havoc With New England Cattle—Symptoms and Effects of the Malady.

The extensive outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in the New England states leads to many inquiries as to what this epidemic is, says Dr. W. E. Clemons, V. S., in the Granville Times.

This disease is an excessively contagious malady peculiar to, orminating animals (cattle, sheep, goats, deer) and swine. Rarely is it transmitted to man. While the disease does not often kill, it damages either temporarily or permanently every cow it attacks, to the extent of from $10 to $40. The total loss on a herd is usually enough to wipe out a dairyman's profit for a year or two. The effect on fat animals is quite as serious. It is not uncommon for stock owners of England, Germany and France to be injured by this disease in a single year to the extent of $5,000,000. With our much larger holdings of live stock in this country, the possible losses from this disease if it becomes general are incalculable. There is no other disease that is so readily and certainly conveyed by contact. It is also conveyed by exposing healthy animals, even for an instant to the stables, yards or pastures, or cars that have been occupied by affected animals: by buckets, clothes, brushes or other objects that have been used on or around affected animals.

The disease is also carried by small animals as cats, dogs, rats, birds or upon the hands, boots or clothing of man. In short it is to be remembered that every diseased animal is dangerous and also every animal, person or thing that has been near it or has been near a place occupied by it.

The symptoms of this disease most obvious to stockmen are sluggishness, shivering, poor appetite, stiffness or lameness, collection of saliva upon the lips, slobbering or drooling, sucking, or swallowing motions of the mouth and throat, smacking of the lips, blisters inside the lips upon the gums, tongue or roof of the mouth, later raw sores in the same places. Blisters and sores also form on the teats or udder and upon the heels and between the toes, the flow of milk lessens and the subject loses weight. All these symptoms may not be present in one animal as the same symptoms occur in varying degrees of severity. They may be mild or very intense. Should any of these symptoms occur in a herd a qualified veterinarian should be called to make a careful examination. He will instruct the owner what to do. The probability is that this disease will be stamped out by the Government authorities, on the other hand it may spread with lightning like rapidity so it is well to be on our guard.

NATURAL GAS

NEW APPLICATION OF AN OLD PRINCIPLE.

Alexandria, Ind., Dec. 19.—The Fairmount glass works a few miles north of this place has made a new application of an old principle, which promises to lengthen the life of natural gas fuel and is giving marvelous results in the burning of the fluid. The process is simply the forcing of air into the well at a high pressure which mixes thoroughly with the gas before again coming to the surface, giving off much greater heat, better combustion and a pressure amply great, where previously there was practical none. The discovery has created much interest over the gas belt.

TOMORROW—See Saturday's Advocate for program of the Old Time Christmas party at Taylor Hall tomorrow night.

A long loose coat of bright red light-weight lustrous cloth worn with a white wool gown would be charming for afternoon wear or driving. Indeed, a full or three-quarter-length wrap of some description is quite an essential item in every perfectly appointed wardrobe this season. When the one wrap must answer for both street and evening wear, black taffeta or peau de seie may be used. Lace or embroidered bands are particularly effective on these coats, though for a simple stylish effect a broad collar of Irish lace or one of embroidered batiste would be attractive.
